GIANT INVADES STATE FAIR: Best photo gets crisp Ben Franklin

Denver, CO. April 3, 2008—Bring your camera to the State Fair in Minot! Check that your hat is snug. An obnoxious eighteen foot tall cowboy might snatch your bonnet to auction to uncovered passers-by. When he behaves, he'll dance, shake hands, give very high fives and pose with you for snapshots. This year, the winning snapshot of the interactive, strolling parade puppet at the fair will win $100!

Event coordinators and visitors rave about Entertainer Bill (Stretch) Coleman:

“A sure hit for any type of party or event!”

“It was so fun to be able to see it clear across the site.”

Now in his 11th year of entertaining, Stretch is one-of-a kind within 1000 miles of Denver. He started performing for crowds at fairs, festivals, celebrations, parties and parades in 1998, and has won clown, costume and parade awards. In addition to giant puppets, Bill's acts include clowning, dancing Christmas trees, stilt walking, solar powered bubble towers, comedy valet and parking lot attendant.

Stretch has walked over 200 miles on his stilts, even in 10 degrees, racing for charities. His Web site, www.stiltwalker.com, bulges with eye-witness accolades, photos and videos of his lively talent. His busiest season is approaching. He's rapidly booking summer parties, company picnics and festivals.

The giant puppet and solar-powered bubble tower will be at the State Fair in Minot, ND from July 18 through 26. He is launching his first ever photo contest for snaps of his performing puppet. Send your pictures in an attachment to Bill at www.stiltwalker.com/sendphoto.htm. Be sure to include a description of the photo, the photographer's name and your name.
